Plant Tissue Culture Internship

(6th February - 24th February 2023)

Department of Biosciences conducted an Internship on Plant Tissue Culture from 6th - 24th February 2023. The Internship commenced with a welcome address by Dr. Monica Jain, Plant Tissue Culture Expert, MRSC, Indore, who introduced the theme of the workshop and emphasized on the significance of micro propagated plants in sustainable agriculture. She further explained the importance of increasing demand for in vitro medicinal and ornamental plants. The workshop included theoretical session where she explained basics of plant tissue culture, media preparation and surface sterilization techniques. Students were provided hand notes on Murashige and Skoog (MS) media composition and protocols for in vitro propagation of Bacopa monnari. Apart from this, differences in culture methods of various other varieties of seeds were also explained to the students. The practical sessions included hands on training where in students themselves prepared stocks of required chemicals, learned how to prepare MS medium, and its sterilization. The student also performed explants inoculation under aseptic condition with the help of instructions given by Dr. Monica Jain. In the end, interactive sessions to the students were also arranged where they raised queries regarding hardening and green house maintenance. The event was concluded with a valedictory ceremony followed by certificate distribution and feedback.
